Trust Company Announces Plans for New Building

To Build at Haverford and Narberth Avenues; Must Leave Borough Limits

An announcement of great interest and importance to Narberth was made yesterday by the Merion Title & Trust Company. It relates to the plans for a new building to house the activities of the prosperous branch office which serves the borough.

Realizing that the banking accommodations in Narberth were entirely inadequate the Merion Title & Trust Company during the last winter negotiated the purchase of the Y. M. C. A. building on Haverford avenue. It was then their intention to remodel the first floor into a complete and up to date banking quarters for the Narberth office.

A recent ruling of the Attorney General of Pennsylvania on the maintenance of branch offices by trust companies, however, holds that trust companies must have a certain fixed place in which to transact business and this place is designated in the charter. That nowhere in the law is any authority given for a trust company to extend its business by establishing branches outside of the place designated in its charter, his final dictum being that whether the charters of trust companies have been amended or not, they are confined in the establishment of branch offices to the place designated in their charter as the principal place of business of the corporation.

In the matter of the Merion Title & Trust Company the Attorney General further ruled that "place of business" meant Lower Merion Township and inasmuch as Narberth is a separately incorporated borough the Narberth office came within the "pale" of the ruling and should be discontinued in its present form.

It was the general opinion that Narberth could best be served by the maintenance of a branch office of a large company such as the Merion Title & Trust Company rather than a separate institution and the board of directors therefore concluded that for the best interest of the people in Narberth and its business so as to afford the community the facilities and the resources of a company big enough to be of real service to it that they would move the Narberth office to a point in Lower Merion township.

The property at the corner of Haverford and Narberth avenues on which the present log cabin is now situated was recently purchased from Mr. William D. Smedley and on this property the Merion Title & Trust Company will erect a modern bank building having all the facilities such as safe deposit boxes, silver storage, coupon rooms, conference rooms, etc.

It was the original intention of the Merion Title & Trust Company, when purchasing the Y. M. C. A. building, to remodel the second floor of the building for meeting rooms for community activities and it is with a spirit of reluctance that they find it necessary to discontinue this project but they assure the people of Narberth and its vicinity that the banking home to be erected on the corner of Narberth and Haverford avenues will be a source of pride to everyone in the community and will be an institution that all can be proud of, it being distinctly a Narberth enterprise.

A Remarkable Growth.

The announcement of the plans for a new building come as the result of the truly wonderful growth of the Narberth branch of the company.

Established on August 1, 1915, the branch started in a small store at the corner of the old Arcade, opposite the station. As the business grew, larger quarters were found necessary, and the bank moved to its present quarters adjoining the Post Office.

These larger quarters, it was felt, would fill the needs of the institution for years to come, but already they are inadequate. The completeness of the service rendered the community may be shown by the fact that there are at the Narberth office nearly 1800 depositors in the active (checking) account. Over 1100 savings accounts are entered. Nearly a thousand Christmas Club cards are now current.

Some of these figures, of course, overlap, but a comparison with the number of families in the community is interesting.

This astonishing growth has been due almost entirely to the efforts and personality of Mr. Daniel Leitch, who, as announced last week in these columns, has been elected treasurer of the company. Mr. Leitch was in charge of the bank on its opening day, when the branch was but an experiment, and has been the manager ever since that time.

Mr. Leitch has been an employee of the company for 18 years. He started as a bookkeeper, progressing through various departments to his present important post. At the time of his election last week as treasurer, he was assistant treasurer.

A resident of Narberth, Mr. Leitch is, and has been, one of its most active citizens. He is a member of Council, a director of the former Y. M. C. A., a vestryman at All Saints' Protestant Episcopal Church, and a director of four building and loan associations: the Early Maturing, of Ardmore; the Lower Merion, the Overbrook and the Narberth.

Mr. Leitch is still officially in charge of the local branch, although his new position calls him to Ardmore. No regular manager has been selected, and may not be until President Richard J. Hamilton's return. At the present time Mr. Robert M. Whelan is assistant manager, and Miss Anna W. Kirk is clerk.

The position of treasurer includes executive control over the entire banking department of the company, and supervision over the two branch offices. Thus Narberth will not lose Mr. Leitch either as a citizen or as an active influence in the affairs of the local branch.

TO BUILD NEW OFFICES

Another Step in Narberth's Business Growth.

Another step in the rapid expansion of Narberth's business section was taken this week, when ground was broken for the new building of the Narberth Coal and Building Material Company.

The new structure, in part an enlargement of the present building, is in the same location, Narberth and Haverford avenues. The pit was dug and part of the foundation laid for the new scales, and the work of construction, to be done by William D. and H. T. Smedley, will be started at once.

The new scales is of the truck type of the newest design. It is so locked that heavy traffic of coal trucks and busses will not jar the mechanism. The capacity is 40,000 pounds.

The building will be of 25-foot frontage, with two large display windows. In the front will be a large office and display room, back of which will be the private office and store room.

The second floor is to be finished for two offices, which will be rented. The windows in front will be of the casement type, with leaded glass. The design of the building is red brick with buff stucco panels. In every way the new structure is expected to be a handsome addition to the business community.

This is one of the many improvements to the corner since the coal business was assumed by Mr. Ralph S. Duane in April, 1922. The company operates five trucks, with modern attachments and numerous improvements have been made to the corner with the idea in the mind of Mr. Duane to extend the influence of his business to the entire Main Line.

This week there is announced the building plans of the Merion Title & Trust Company; six new stores are well on the way to completion; two important corners have been sold, plans for which will be announced before long.

WOMEN VOTERS BUSY

Notwithstanding mid-summer, the members of the League of Women Voters in Lower Merion are finding plenty to engage their attention these days.

Preparations for "Wyndham Fair," which will be held October 5 at Miss Ely's residence in Bryn Mawr, continues steadily. Mrs. J. Aubrey Sutton, of Ardmore, is promoter of this event.

Also, close attention is being given to the various plans for making the "Get-Out-the-Vote" campaign a success.

Mrs. C. P. Fowler, of Narberth, who is chairman of the "Get-Out-the-Vote" committee for the Montgomery County League, is busily occupied organizing throughout the county; and Mrs. William M. Gehmann, of Cynwyd, who is chairman of the "Get-Out-the-Vote" committee for Lower Merion township, is sparing no effort in arranging plans to appeal to the ideals of every patriotic citizen and bring out the largest possible vote in November.

The campaign caravan will carry the spectacular call to vote to every county of Pennsylvania.

Firemen in Series.

Everyone who has the chance will run to a fire. Surely as you hear the old siren blow its warning, you drop your work and follow the engines as fast as you can to watch "the boys" fight the flames. And you know how well those Narberth boys can fight. Many the time they have been applauded for their rapid response to calls and their clever handling of the hose in killing a blaze before it had time to get vicious.

Now you have a chance to see these same fire-fighters in a battle of a different kind. The Fire Department has organized a baseball team, which in spite of the lateness of the season and the short time spent in practice, promises to put over some exploits which will be the equal of those achieved in the red shirts and helmets.

They have already held three games, and are planning others in the near future. And they want you to crowd to see them on the baseball diamond with as much interest as you would rush to see them fight a fire. Look for the sign across Haverford avenue which will tell you the dates of the next games and—COME. The proceeds are to be used to procure new furniture for the clubhouse.

Talks on Rabies.

Dr. R. M. Staley, veterinarian, Narberth, former director, division of transmissible diseases, Pennsylvania Bureau of Animal Industry, broadcast a message last night from the Wanamaker station, concerning rabies and the supposed relation between this disease and "dog days."

Dr. Staley states that while public health and similar reports indicate that there is considerable rabies in the United States, and particularly in the East, there is no occasion for alarm and certainly no occasion for undue anxiety just because this happens to be the season of the year designated by some as "dog days."

Dr. Faries Sells House.

The home of Dr. Clarence T. Faries, on the corner of Narberth and Windsor avenues, was recently sold through Mr. Caldwell's office.

The "sold" sign on the premises led many to the conclusion that Dr. Faries was planning to give up his practice in Narberth, and many inquiries resulted.

Dr. Faries expects to remain at his present house until next June. In the meantime he plans to search for larger office quarters in Narberth, with increased facilities for the treatment of his patients.

Milk Wagon Wrecked.

A milk wagon of the Highland Dairies, Bryn Mawr, was struck by a heavy truck of the Wawa Dairies on Montgomery avenue at 5.45 Tuesday morning.

The wagon was turned over and badly damaged, although the horses escaped injury. William Funk, of 223 Ionia avenue, driver of the milk wagon, escaped with bruises and a bad shaking-up.

Mr. John J. Futipoldi, with his daughters Jewel and Eleanor, motored to Wildwood, New Jersey. Jewel, Eleanor and Marie Mesin will remain at the Dorsey Hotel for a week.

WAYNE RUNS AMUCK

Walzerites Badly Clawed by Wild Westerners

Narberth struck a snag at Wayne last Saturday, when the folks out there treated their guests most impolitely. In fact, they handed the Boroughites an 11-3 defeat.

"Our Town's" sporting department has been hitting on only one cylinder this season, so we can do no better than to call on Wayne's artist of words, A. A. H. Cani-ares, ex-president of the league, to describe the slaughter. Hark!

Through the medium of crashing base-hits at the right time and powerful pitching in the pinches by Ab Brooke, Wayne swamped Narberth, first-half champions of the Main Line League, in the baseball game played at Wayne last Saturday afternoon. Score, 11 to 3. Fifteen safeties flew from the maples of the Men's Club men and nearly all of them figured in the scoring; an example of efficiency for the younger generation to strive after. Five straight times did Leo Murphy stride up to the platter and five straight times did he knock out a base blow; a noble effort seldom equalled along the Main Line. His colleagues were most diligent also in collecting the old base-hits, each and everyone having at least one with the sole exception of Lefty O'Donnell.

The first-half champions hit the offerings of Brooke for 12 bingles, but with men on bases the old master was tighter than a porous plaster in rainy weather. Narberth men could get on but they couldn't get around, and that's the reason that today the Main Line League leadership is divided into three equal parts consisting of Wayne, Narberth and Bala-Cynwyd. Brooke's greatest effort came in the sixth inning, and was a radiant gem of the purest pitching. Kane and Dickie, the first two Narberth hitters in the inning, singled—the one to the right, the other to the left. Then on nine straight pitched balls, Brooke fanned Vernon Fleck, Davis and Yowell, three of the strongest hitters in the league. That was pitching.

Proceeding to the manufacturing of runs, Wayne helped themselves to two in the first session. Manager Nick was safe when Humphries misjudged his high fly. Leo Murphy started his string of safeties with a one-baser to center, which V. Fleck kicked around, allowing Dorsaneo to move up to third and Leo to take second. McCue sacrificed Manager Nick home and Joe Dorsaneo did as much for Murphy. Two runs on squeeze plays.

Three more pairs of Men's Club brogans spiked the platter in the second. O'Brien took a free walk to first on four of Yowell's bad ones but was nipped at second when Hemcher hit to the pitcher. O'Donnell got soaked in the ribs and there were men on first and second. Manager Nick was safe on a fielder's choice, Dickie throwing his grounder to Humphries for a force out of O'Donnell. Leo Murphy's second single to center scored Hemcher and Dorsaneo, the hitter, taking second on the useless throw-in, from where he scored on McCue's wallop to left.

Danny Hemcher took it upon himself to personally account for Wayne's sixth run, when he blasted a fast ball clear up to Audubon avenue for an easy home-run.

Narberth bats did all their efficient functioning in the fifth inning. After G. Fleck grounded out Brooke to O'Donnell, Reilly received a free walk to first. Kane singled to left, but was out when Dickie forced him at second base. Reilly taking third. Dickie stole second. V. Fleck inserted a timely single to center, scoring two runs and counted himself when Davis singled to port. Yowell ended the rally by flying to O'Brien.

Four solid base-hits counted three more for Wayne in the sixth. Doubles by the Dorsaneo brothers, Leo Murphy's fourth single and a healthy wallop by Pitcher Brooke, plus an error by Catcher Fleck were the ingredients used.

The Men's Club closed their transactions with home plate in the eighth by tallying twice. Murphy's liner to the box was too hot for Yowell to handle. Joe Dorsaneo's second double was a liner to left, scoring Murphy. Brooke chased Dorsaneo home with a single to center. (Continued on Fourth Page)

TO LAY CORNERSTONE

Ceremony Planned for Early in September.

Holy Trinity Lutheran Church with suitable exercises will observe the laying of the cornerstone of their new church, now in process of erection at the corner of Woodbine and Narberth avenues, on September 7, at 3.30 P. M., daylight-saving time.

Extensive preparations are now under way to make this an occasion of special significance in the history of the church. There will be a number of visiting Lutheran pastors from the vicinity who may participate in the exercises, an augmented chorus of 70 voices will be trained by Fr. N. R. Melhorn, of Philadelphia, that will render music of a superior order, under the leadership of Mrs. J. S. Gerhard, director of the Narberth Lutheran choir, and in addition a contralto solo will be sung by Mrs. Jane Alton, who is so well known in Philadelphia and surroundings that we need say nothing further.

The pastors of the town will be asked to be present and through the efforts of this paper, hearty invitation is given to any and all the residents of Narberth to join in the service.

It is planned to make this a time of rejoicing, not only to the Lutherans, in the glad promise of their finished church building, but to all of the people of our town who are willing to rejoice with them in the coming of their reward for the difficult, but delightful, work of securing a beautiful church home.

At Races.

The horse races at Belmont track last Wednesday were officially opened by Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick.

Mayor Kendrick was accompanied in his box by Charles Grakelow and by Edward Loeb, his secretary, who is a resident of Narberth. In addition there was a large contingent of politicians from the city.

Mayor Kendrick started the first races—a mile dash for three-year-olds and up.

After the races there was a dinner at the General Wayne Inn, attended by Mr. Kendrick and his retinue.

African Golfers Fined.

Seven devotees of the gentle game of craps were fined $8.50 each by Magistrate Walzer last Friday for rolling the festive bones back of the stable on Haverford avenue below Essex.

On the arrival of the police, the players scattered and were the subjects of a number of exciting chases. Police from Ardmore came down to assist the local force in the round-up, two being caught on Chestnut avenue after a revolver had frightened away some of their sprinting talent.

When Going Away.

The Lower Merion Police urge that when residents close up their homes to go away for any period, notice be given the police to that effect.

If the officer on the beat knows that the house is unoccupied it is watched carefully a number of times a day, and the chances of burglary minimized.

When going away, summer or winter, it is a matter of simple precaution to tell the officer on your beat, or to call Ardmore 20.

Death of Dr. Piersol.

Dr. George A. Piersol, Professor Emeritus of Anatomy at the University of Pennsylvania, who died last week, was the father of Mr. William Burton Piersol, of Avon road.

Dr. Piersol was the author of several books on anatomy and was the successor to the famous Dr. Joseph Leidy as head of the Department of Anatomy.

New Cars.

Ray Weiss, our local auto agent, has bought two more Narberthites into the fold of Maxwell owners.

They are Messrs. Duke Bowker, of Wynnedale road, and E. S. Munro, of Forest avenue. In addition a number of Maxwell and Chrysler cars have been sold to out-of-town buyers.

THE JAPANESE BEETLE

Last week we published a comprehensive article about the Japanese beetle danger.

Mr. A. E. Wohler, of the Garden Nurseries, has cautioned us against giving the impression that there is any great quantity of the pests in Narberth at present. The point is well taken, but the publicity of the Civic Association is for prevention, which, if taken care of now, will save untold trouble next year.

In that regard, we have been very fortunate in securing a special article on the subject from Mr. H. G. Mattoon, forester, of Ardmore.

Mr. Mattoon is qualified to speak on this subject, not only because of his wide experience in many parts of the country as an expert entomologist and arbori-cult, but because of his own recent unpleasant experience with the beetle. While a resident of New Jersey, Mr. Mattoon saw the scourge descend by the tens of thousands upon his shrubs and garden, and knows the imminent danger facing Narberth.

The article follows:

"Only two days ago a man brought a common rose chafer to me and asked whether it were a Japanese beetle. On first thought it seemed incredible that anyone could have passed through the bombardment of words and pictures of the last two months and still be in ignorance of the character of seriousness of this foreign pest. Yet it is understandable.

"Ordinarily our battles with insect pests and diseases of plants have been delegated to paid soldiers.
We have been more willing to dig into our pockets to support an elaborate system of State and Governmental supervision and control than to do the actual fighting ourselves.
Our complacency has made us prodigal of our floral resources.

"Now that the occasion has arisen it is not easy for us to realize our duty. Do not be misled. In this battle with the Japanese beetle it will require the untiring efforts of everyone of us to win.

"There are two reasons why each one of us must bend every effort.
In the first place this insect is of foreign origin. To the layman that may not sound so ominous, but in that fact lies its ability to increase with such rapidity. Our insect and plant world is a highly complicated and delicately balanced affair. Each species of insect is the prey of many other insects, or parasitic enemies.
It is also subject to diseases as human beings are. Possibly the idea may best be conveyed by a paraphrase of an old quatrain:

Great bugs have little bugs
Upon their backs to bite them,
And little bugs have lesser bugs
And so ad infinitum.

"If one of these insects which attacks plant life is artificially transported to a foreign soil it is free to increase without the controlling influence of its parasitic enemies and diseases.

"As specific examples of how effective this control is, let me cite two cases of common insects. If one had examined a tent caterpillar nest last spring, for every full-grown worm he would have found a thousand that had died before attaining their normal size. Some of these were killed by insect enemies; others by diseases. Had this destruction not occurred next year we should have had a scourge ten times as great this year.

The little known and seldom seen bronze May beetle would defoliate his part of the country were it not for its natural enemies.

"In the case of the Japanese beetle it has at least an eight-year handicap upon its insect enemies. It increased unhampered by them from 1916 to 1922 when Government entomologists brought a few enemies from Japan and released them at Riverton, New Jersey.

It will be a great many years before they increase sufficiently to affect appreciably the present increase in beetles. In the meantime the depredations and infested area will continually increase.

"The second reason why everyone must exert every effort in controlling the Japanese beetle is its unusual feeding habits. It is not at all fastidious in its choice of food.
During the summer I have observed this pest feeding upon the following species of trees, shrubs and flowering plants: Grape, cherry, peach, alum, asparagus, rose (blooms and leaves), elms, pussy willow, linden, sassafras, tamarix, apple, wistaria, lilac, plane tree, dahlia (bloom), hydrangea, hardy chrysanthemum, horse chestnut, viburnum, arborvitae, juniper and a very large number of weeds and grasses. In this list the first ten species seem to be preferred by this insect, but it was found upon the other kinds as well.

"Moreover in quantity of food consumed it is a glutton. I have seen a Concord grape vine defoliated in two days.

"In this list I have considered only the feeding habits of the adult beetle. The larva or grub also feeds. It is particularly fond of the succulent roots of lawn grass. This spring I counted 15 grubs in one spade of soil. In such quantities a lawn would be destroyed in one season.

"It is hardly practical for us to fight the grub on a large scale, but we can give battle to the adult beetle. The most satisfactory method of attack, the arsenical spray with flour, has been explained in detail. Yet there is one point in the use of this spray which I wish to emphasize. To insure the most satisfactory results a fine misty spray should be used and the shrub or tree should be completely drenched. If only the upper surface of the leaves are covered the beetle will feed upon the underside.
Hence the necessity for covering all.

"Remember, five beetles this year will mean 500 next year. It is easier to kill the five."

PRIZE FOR BEST SLOGAN

Chance to Win $200 from Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce

The State Publicity Bureau of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce has announced a prize of $200 for the best slogan to be used in broadcasting Pennsylvania's many advantages as a tourist State.
The bureau has in preparation an illustrated booklet which will picture Pennsylvania's wealth of beautiful scenery, historic places, ideal rural life, splendid highways and modern cities, not forgetting the vast natural and industrial resources of the Keystone State. Anyone can submit a slogan or title for this booklet, which will be one of several steps in an extensive campaign of advertising Pennsylvania's charms to tourists. Blanks for entering slogan suggestions are obtainable from the local Chamber of Commerce or from the State Publicity Bureau, Telegraph Building, Harrisburg.

More than 10,000 tourists have already this summer taken advantage of the information service of the State Publicity Bureau and no less than 300,000 pieces of Pennsylvania advertising literature and tourist maps have been distributed through this agency to people in other States. A tourist guide, complete with accurate road maps showing all of the main highways of the State and containing descriptive matter for quick reference, will be published for broadcast distribution over the country in advance of next tourist season. The pictorial booklet will feature actual photographs of beauty spots and places of outstanding interest. The co-operation of officials of Pennsylvania communities, the State Forestry Department, Chambers of Commerce and numerous patriotic individuals in collecting photographic material for this State-wide advertising book insures its completeness in depicting all that goes to make up the lure of Pennsylvania's out-of-doors. The booklet will be distributed free. The guide book will enable the tourist to plan trips to any part of the State taking advantage of the best roads and most satisfactory accommodations along the way.

Rules of the $200 prize slogan contest are simple. The committee wishes that Pennsylvania first of all shall know more about the wonders of their own State. Living in the midst of such advantages of landscape, climate and the like, it is believed that Pennsylvanians should be accorded the opportunity to choose a slogan which will carry the message of invitation and goodwill to the people of other States.

The Ozarks of Missouri—"The Land of a Million Smiles," as the "show me" State's publicity describes them—have a romantic charm, which every year adds to the number of visitors for rest and recreation. Pennsylvania is a vacation land where literally there are "Miles of Smiles" and the committee wants a slogan that will be properly descriptive of the romance and delight which everywhere in the State awaits the tourist. The title slogan must not exceed five words. The contest closes on Saturday, September 20, at 6 P. M., and all slogans, to be considered, must be in by that time. Announcement of the winning slogan will be made at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce at Pittsburgh October 8.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Richardson, Jr., of Wynnewood, are ending a short time at Briarcliff Lodge.

PLAN FOR FALL

Plans for the fall activities of the local scout troop are being made, under the guidance of the Troop Committee.

The duties and difficulties of that organization are discussed by one of the members, who writes:

"Early in 1923 the then scoutmaster was overwhelmed with work, and at a meeting held to award badges to scouts, he publicly threatened to resign unless he could secure active co-operation from those interested in the work. He called for volunteers and as a result of that meeting five men agreed to act as a Troop Committee. All they were requested to do was to solicit the funds which were turned over to the scoutmaster and there the Troop Committee rested, being really ignorant of the work and functioning more like the old-time Board of Directors who met once a month and O. K.'ed everything that had been done, and receiving a $10 gold piece for their services. In this instance, however, the gold pieces were not available.

"In January, 1924, the Troop Committee met and were faced with the resignation of the scoutmaster, who claimed pressure of business absolutely prevented his continuing the work. The Troop Committee, green and untried without proper records, knew not what to do, and declined to accept the resignation until some other scoutmaster could be secured. The retiring scoutmaster had suggested his successor, who was communicated with and duly appointed.

"To those who know nothing of the Boy Scouts, let it be known now that there is an immense amount of work connected with the movement, which the new scoutmaster, his assistants and the Troop Committee never realized and they surely honor and appreciate the old scoutmaster for the years he put in practically alone. The early part of 1924 was therefore a period of trial and tribulation for all concerned, even the boys feeling it. Money was raised and work conducted as best as could be. Boys went to Camp Delmont and had their usual good time.

"With the advent of the fall season and reopening of scout work, much of the hard road has been covered and plans have been made that indicate the right kind of success in every endeavor. The Troop Committee know their work. The scoutmaster is planning on active scouting, hikes, entertainments, participation in contests.

"There are many things still to be ironed out, the financial needs, the property, and meeting place, the question of the Community Building and suitable quarters and it is felt that by the first of the year the troubles will be over."

Music Hath Charms.

A Parisian milliner is using the phonograph to provide appropriate accompaniments for the trying on and sale of hats. For example, when she has interested a prospective victim in a rich and costly jeweled toque she switches on the "Jewel Song" from "Faust." Of course, no normal woman ever buys the first hat she looks at—unless she looks at all the others in the shop and then goes back to the first one—and when the customer is attracted to a snappy dansant turban the milliner meets her changed mood and the "Jewel Song" gives away to something zippy in the way of jazz.

This is a bright idea that could be applied to almost any line of business. The banker who lends money on notes might do it to the accompaniment of "Oh, Promise Me." The boarding-house keeper might have her victrola play "Abide With Me" while she was showing her rooms. Beauty-parlor patrons would appreciate their torture being accompanied by "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms." Fruit stores could keep their customers happy with "Yes, We Have No Bananas." Prize-fight promoters might supply phonographs in the boxers' dressing room and when the defeated gladiator is carried in soothe his rumpled feelings with the strains of "The End of a Perfect Day."

Why "Cream" Buttermilk?

A Revolution in an Old Industry and a Contribution to the Public From Pure Science

So great a change has come in the demand for Buttermilk, that every one of our customers should understand the reason. Instead of being only a hot-weather beverage, Cream Buttermilk has grown to be an all-the-year-around drink. More and more is it growing to be a necessary, as well as an excellent beverage.

There are several reasons for this increased demand.

The first reason is the great improvement in the product, due to more careful selection of the milk and to better methods in ripening.

The chief reason for the constant demand through all seasons is due to the education of many persons by the family physician to their real need for this healthful drink. Also, travelers in Europe have learned to drink Culture Milk at health resorts.

This latter knowledge has been gained from the writings of Metchnikoff, principally. Although it was Pasteur who first explained the difference between alcoholic and lactic fermentation, yet Metchnikoff carried on the investigations and showed proof of the harmful effects of alcoholic fermentation and also the great beneficial effects of lactic fermentations by the use of soured milk.

"Kowmiss" is prepared from mare's milk by the wandering tribes of Tartars of the steppes of Russia and Central Asia. Metchnikoff discovered one of these tribes who were partially intoxicated their entire lives and had never developed beyond boyhood, both physically and mentally. Their chief food was mare's milk soured with an alcoholic ferment similar to yeast.

"Yoghurt" is prepared in every household in Bulgaria, where the long lives of many are notorious. Metchnikoff found that this soured milk was prepared with great care and was a pure lactic acid fermentation, without the formation of gas.

From a large experience in the hospitals of Paris, he came to believe that pure sour milk would certainly prolong life by deferring old age.

Poisoning of the system by the toxic substances produced by injurious bacteria from various foods being digested, and causing headache, stupor, dizziness and chronic indigestion, could be prevented by lactic acid in the digestive tract produced by the daily use of pure milk soured with a pure culture of "Bulgaricus."

THIS IS THE WAY TO PEACEFUL DIGESTION

"Cream Buttermilk" is superior to all other sour-milk drinks. Each step in the process of manufacture is carefully guarded. First, pure milk is selected and separated. This milk is pasteurized at a temperature so high that extermination of all bacteria is insured. Then the ripening process is controlled perfectly at the proper temperature and with pure cultures of Lacticus and Bulgaricus, which insures a smooth consistency and complete digestion of the casein. This also secures the presence of the two necessary agents—lactic acid and the Bulgarian ferment, and without the formation of any gas. One per cent. of pasteurized cream is added, increasing the food value and improving the flavor.

"Cream Buttermilk" surpasses the old-time churned buttermilk, which would whey-off or water so quickly, because our product is standardized and produced scientifically and because it is always clean, pure and rich in flavor.

Pure cultures of Lacticus, Bulgaricus or Acidophilus will be supplied on order.

NEW LIBRARY DEPARTMENT

Damaged Books to Be Promptly Repaired at the Community Library.

Eighteen members of the library staff gathered at the library early one morning recently and put in the whole day cleaning the room, the books and all the appurtenances whereby more than 14,000 volumes are annually distributed to the people of Narberth. Aside from the physical work accomplished it was also an interesting and stimulating occasion for the members of the staff.

That day's session was more than merely restoring the books to their proper places and the elimination of dust from obscure corners and nooks. Such a complete examination of all the details of the library work naturally revealed some errors in filing or recording which had been caused by pressure for time on one of the library's busy days. These discrepancies naturally furnished subject for discussion whereby they could be prevented in the future.

As far as dust was concerned there was not much on the books as they are too much in demand for the dust to accumulate on them, but it was discovered that many volumes were seriously in need of repair as a result of constant usage. The problem of restoring damaged books is one which has confronted the library for some time because it is an art in itself. It is, of course, possible to send such books to be rebound, but this method is one which is beyond the financial resources of the community library except in the case of the more valuable volumes.

The large libraries with professional staffs meet this problem by organizing a repair department of their own and the restoration of damaged books is now a part of the training of all the professional librarians.

This problem has been solved for the local library by appointing Mrs. Ernest C. Drew, of Chestnut Avenue, an assistant librarian in charge of that department. Mrs. Drew is a trained librarian and has been connected with that work in many large libraries. The community library is, therefore, unusually fortunate in being able to obtain her services which are given voluntarily the same as those of all others of the local library staff. Mrs. Drew will be in the library for this work on Tuesday afternoon and within a short time it will be possible to restore such books to usefulness with a minimum loss of time and at no expense except the cost of the necessary material for the work.
